

Thursday, October 13, 2011

7:00 PM

Monmouth Public Library

Your Land, My Land:
Using and Preserving
Oregon's Natural Resources

You are cordially invited to enjoy a lively discussion of our attachments to Polk County. Its forests and farms, its city and towns; its rivers and streams are important to us economically and socially, historically and for our children and grandchildren. We would like to hear your concerns and your hopes. Let's explore how we can work together, respecting interests which may appear to conflict, and find ways to use and preserve our county's natural resources.

Light refreshments will be served

Moderator Veronica Dujon is Chair of the Department of Sociology at Portland State University. She has focused on contests over declining natural resources, such as Oregon's Klamath River Basin and the Lower Columbia.

This program is made possible by the generous support of Oregon Humanities, the National Endowment for the Humanities, and the Oregon Cultural Trust.

O. Hm.

Oregon Humanities